

Analyst (m/f/d) Investment Strategy (Luxembourg)

About Us:

BID Equity was founded in 2016 by a small, passionate team of entrepreneurs, strategy consultants, and technology enthusiasts. From this passion, one of Germany's leading specialized software investors has emerged. Today, the BID Equity funds manage more than half a billion euros in equity commitments. With a focus on growth as well as late-stage investments, the BID Equity funds primarily engage in succession planning and shareholder buyouts across Europe and North America. Our entrepreneurial investment approach focuses on the systematic development of companies through buy & build, internationalization, and digitalization strategies. Close and cooperative collaboration with the management teams of our portfolio companies is a central value in our daily work. Quantitative KPIs are at the heart of our investment strategy.

Your Responsibilities:

- Be the driving force to bring "Moneyball" to the Private Equity industry.
- Build an unrivalled, proprietary dataset on software firms by compiling data from various databases and above all, our internally developed, state-of-the-art AI software tool.
- Develop analytical approaches and conduct econometric analyses.
- Interpret, document, and discuss empirical results internally.
- Write academic articles to publish significant findings.
- Support ad-hoc assignments and conduct special analyses in due diligence processes and for existing BID Equity portfolio firms.
- Continuously maintain and further develop our proprietary AI software tool.

Your Qualifications:

- Billy Beane is looking for Paul DePodesta: A master's degree in Financial Economics, Quantitative Finance, Economic Theory, Mathematics, or Statistics.
- 0-3 years of professional experience.
- Strong analytical skills and conceptual thinking.
- Openness to new ideas and a critical approach to existing beliefs.
- Mental flexibility and ability to adapt one's thinking to new information, situations, or perspectives.
- Knowledge of econometric methods and inferential statistics.
- Experience handling large data sets.
- Fluency in English is a must; fluency in German is a plus.

What We Offer:

- An opportunity to shape the future of the Private Equity industry in a dedicated "Think Tank".
- A highly professional work environment at one of Germany's leading software investors.
- A chance to be part of a young, open-minded, and dynamic team.
- Development opportunities across all areas of the Private Equity investment business or in our portfolio firms. (Please note: Your role model Paul DePodesta later was encouraged to take over his own baseball team.)
- A competitive compensation package.
